

Ruchi Sinnatamby is a Consultant Radiologist from Cambridge whose major interests are in Breast Imaging and education. Her clinical research interests include how imaging can be used to improve the targeting of radiotherapy and assess its toxicity. Ruchi is also Clinical SubDean for the Cambridge University School of Clinical Medicine and Vice President of Murray Edwards College, University of Cambridge. She is an examiner for the final FRCR and member of the RCR Professional Learning & Development Board and Curriculum Committee.